

Contents of the Herbal Medicine course

1. Understanding herbal therapeutic actions

The history of herbal medicine

How do herbal medicines work?

Herbal prescriptions

How do herbal medicines differ from modern drugs?

What is phyto-therapy?

Contra-indications

Some herbs produce multiple beneficial actions and examples

Are medicinal herbs safe?

What are the advantages of herbal treatment?

4 examples of these advantages

What is the current stage of research and development?

What is a clinical trial? Clinical trials explained

What are the challenges faced in research in herbal medicine?

Research into herbal medicine

Assignment 1

2. How to classify herbs and prepare them

A definition of a herb

Herbal medicine systems

Categorization of herbs

Categorizing herbs based on property

Five major categories for herbs

Stimulant herbs

Nervine herbs

Categorizing herbs based on their usage: culinary herbs, aromatic herbs, ornamental herbs, medicinal herbs

Categorizing herbs based on their active constituents

Classifying herbs through their active constituents

Preparing herbal medicines

9 ways in which herbs can be used

Infusions; tea bags

Decoctions

Blending Infusions and decoctions

Blending infusions and decoctions together

Method for blending an infusion and decoction

Infused oils

How to prepare hot infused oils; uses for infused oils

How to prepare cold infused oil

Tablets and Pills

Capsules

Tinctures

Syrups and juices

Creams and Ointments

Table of use for creams and ointments

Essential Oils

Poultice

How to prepare a poultice

Preservation of herbs and herbal preparations

Excipients and herbal preparation table

3. Using herbs for therapeutic purposes

Principles of diagnosis

The Chinese principles: Yin and Yang. Characteristics of yin and yang

The Indian principles

The three 'doshas'; balancing the doshas

The five elements that underline all living systems

The importance of diagnosis

Five steps to practice efficiently

Seven point guideline for diagnosing

Materia Medica and its importance

Where online to find information on Materia Medica

9 things you would refer to a Materia Medica for

Some well-known repertories of information

How is Materia Medica used?

A variety of purposes you'll use the Materia Medica for Information from the Materia Medica is most commonly used for

9 Common ailments and their treatment

Common herbs and their therapeutic characteristics

4 main uses for Echinacea

3 main uses for Ginkgo

5 main uses for Ginger

4 main uses for ginger

5 main uses for Chamomile

St. John's Wort and its uses

Ginseng and the benefits

Psyllium and its uses

4 main uses for Nettle

Assignment 3: case study

4. Diagnosis and treatment practice

Different forms of diagnosis

A comparison of conventional medicine and herbal medicine

4 Interviewing considerations

5 diagnosis methods

Description of the typical Interview

The 10 categories to refer to when interviewing

How to listen to the clients

Diagnosis through smelling; the four types of odour which are used in diagnosis

Differential diagnosis explained

The four pairs of opposites which help in diagnosis

10 symptoms seen in excess cold condition

17 symptoms seen in excess heat condition

Suggestions for clients with these conditions

Deficient cold condition explained

7 causes of cold condition

13 symptoms of cold condition

Treatments for this condition

Deficient heat condition

Treatment for this condition

The most common areas that external diseases affect

The 3 symptoms of external cold conditions

Treatment of external cold conditions

The 4 symptoms for external heat conditions

Internal disease

9 Examples of internal disease

Treatment of these types of disease

8 Symptoms of internal heat conditions

Treatments for this condition

Understanding and Analysis of symptoms

Questions to ask yourself and things to remember

Comparative evaluation of five herbal diagnostic methods

5 of the main methods of herbal diagnosis

Holistic Medical Herbalism explained

Traditional Chinese Medical Diagnosis (TCM) explained

The four stages of diagnosis

How to understand the methodology of TCM

The difference between TCM and western medicine examined

Understanding Pulse Diagnosis

The six most important pulse qualities (of 26)

Ayurvedic Pulse Diagnosis (APD) method of diagnosis explained

Western Pulse Diagnosis comparison

Emergency situations where herbal treatment may not be the correct choice

15 symptoms that call for prompt medical attention

The stages and process of treatment

6 questions for your first consultation

Precautions to be observed, discussed

Herbs, food and drugs interaction discussed

Assignment 4: case study

5. Treating women's illnesses

Why women require special care

Plant-based medicines important role in the lives of many women

Several herbs that can help Common illnesses in women

Infertility and how to treat with herbal remedies

How do fertility herbs work? Treatment mechanism

4 main fertility problems suffered by women that can be treated by herbal remedies

Phytoestrogens and their benefits for women with infertility

How do fertility herbs work?

4 benefits of Agnus Cactus for women with fertility problems

Black Cohosh and its uses for women suffering with menopause syndrome

Dong Quai and its many uses

Herbs during pregnancy and nursing

3 benefits to of herbal remedies for a pregnant client

The benefits of Nettle Leaves

The four main benefits of Nettle Leaves for pregnant women

Oat straw and its uses

3 uses for Dandelion Root

Alfalfa in the last three months of pregnancy

Other herbs that can be used during pregnancy

Pregnancy precautions

Role of hormones in a woman's body and hormonal imbalance

Estrone and its large role during the menopause

Progesterone and its importance to the female reproductive cycle

Sources of phytoestrogens; how phytoestrogens act in the body; necessary precautions with phytoestrogens; herbs containing phytoestrogens

The two phases of the menopause

Herbal remedies for the menopause

Assignment 5: case study

6. Treating children's illnesses

Why herbal medicine is a better option for children

5 ways herbal medicine is better for children

Common illnesses in children and their herbal remedies

3 Symptoms of Colic (spasm in the intestines)

4 causes of colic

Herbal remedy and dosage to treat colic

3 symptoms of sleeplessness

7 Causes of in younger children

8 causes of sleeplessness in older children; common remedies

Herbal remedy and dosage

3 symptoms of teething problems; 3 causes of teething problems; common remedies and dosage

Nappy rash: 3 Symptoms of nappy rash; causes of nappy rash; common remedies; herbal remedies and dosage

Fever: 9 symptoms; causes; common remedies:

Herbal Remedies and Dosage for 3 herbal alternatives

Glue Ear: 3 symptoms; causes; common remedies: herbal remedies and dosage

Herbal remedies for sore throats and coughs

Herbal alternatives for minor cuts and scrapes

Herbal medicines to build immunity and resistance

Echinacea and its benefits for children

Astragalus and its many uses

Chamomile for children

Nettle and its benefits

Garlic practical uses:

Dosage and usage

Adjusting Dosage based upon the age of the child

Administering herbal remedies to children

Tinctures and their use with children

The difficulties of using Capsules and Tablets with children

Uses of teas

Lozenge: the benefits for children

Uses for ointments, salves and rubs

Preparation suggestions

Calming hyperactive kids with herbs

5 symptoms to look for

5 herbal remedies that can help

7 reasons why herbal medicines are preferred for children

Assignment 6: case study

7. First-aid using herbal remedies

Herbal medicine in the home explained

The 7 principles of home treatment

The herbal first-aid kit at home suggestions

7 important items to have in your kit

12 suggested herbs to add to a home herbal first aid kit

Herbal first aid kit for travel

Seven herbal remedies to be kept in a travel first aid kit

Other items that you and your clients will need to put in their herbal first aid kit

14 item contents of a first aid kit

Herbal remedies for emergency treatment;

Bites, stings and splinters

Bleeding

Bruises

Burns and Sunburn

Poisoning

Shock: 7 causes

9 Signs and symptoms of shock

3 post hospital herbal treatments for shock

Herbal tinctures, oils, salves, powders used for a first aid kit

4 Herbal extracts that could be added to a first aid box

3 Powdered herbs that could be added to a first aid box

Oils that could be added to a first aid box

Salves categorised

Healing ingredients at home

Things that clients are likely to have in their own kitchen

6 Home remedies for common ailments

Assignment 7: case study

8. Herbal products for personal care

Five basic skin types

Herbal products used for skin care

Two types of skin care regime

Three benefits of herbal bath oils

Two herbs to reduce acne

6 causes of Eczema

16 common causes of stressed scalp syndrome

The herbal ingredients used in personal care

Saw Palmetto Oil and its uses

9 other herbs for hair care

Why herbal soap is better for yours and your clients' personal care

Herbal toothpaste versus regular toothpaste

10 herbal ingredients used in personal care products

Herbal baths; a brilliant way to relax

Combinations of herbs, which can be used in a herbal bath for different occasions

Aromatherapy

15 benefits of using herbal products for personal care

Assignment 8 case study

9. Herbs in food and nutrition

Healthy diets and dietary plans

Culinary herbs

The nutritional value of herbs

Beneficial use of herbs as a food supplement; herbal food supplements

Types of supplements and how to ascertain their key functions

Nutritional supplements

Common herbal food supplements

Advantages of taking herbal food supplements

Supplements taken to prevent aging disorders

Alleviating and treating ailments

Limitations of herbal food supplements

Herbal diet pills and how they work

Healthy diet and diet plans

Functional foods and their benefits

Herbal supplements – drug interactions

Culinary herb chart

Adding flavour with herbs and spices

When to add spices and herbs

Beneficial use of herbs as a food supplement

Assignment 9 case study

10. Herbal remedies for animals

Why herbal medicine is good for animals

Common pet illnesses

Reasons why an animal may behave aggressively

Periodontal disease and its symptoms

Commonly used herbal remedies

Herbs which are not safe for animals

Herbal remedies for horses

Conditions associated with horses that can be helped with herbal remedies

Herbs and the horse's immune system

Herbs for behavioural problems in horses

Herbs for horse allergies

Herbs to treat allergies and hay fever

Herbs for moody mares

Herbs for hoof and skin care

Common herbal remedies chart

How to administer herbs to animals

Pilling a cat explained; pilling a dog explained

Putting it in the food explained

Liquid Herbs explained

Teas explained

Appropriate dosages

Herbal supplements for animals

Factors that can adversely affect the health of your client's pet.

Herbal supplements used for pets

The difference between herbal medicines and herbal supplements

Quality control for veterinary herbal medicines

How to identify licensed herbal products

Where to find licensed veterinary herbal medicines

Assignment 10: case study

11. Setting up as a Herbalist

A place to work

Somewhere for doing your administration

Advantages and disadvantages of different locations

Telephone and answerphone

Answering the phone

Telephone requests for advice

Your company name

Compliments slips

Brochures; content of your brochure; what you will need to say; things to add

Website information

Help finding the right computer

Saving money on accounts programs

Transport and being mobile

Useful reading

The skills you need

How to assess your strengths and weaknesses

How to practise herbalism within the law

Suggested code of ethics for practise

Code of Practice

How much should you charge?

How should you greet the client at the door?

What should you wear?

How should you take a history?

How do you prescribe?

How do you terminate the interview?

Getting prepared

The immediate steps you need to take

12. How to find clients

How will you position yourself?

Possible Sources of work

Making use of Networking

Guide to leaflet drops
How to promote your herbalism practise
How to find potential clients
Advantages of putting leaflets in commercial premises
Producing a leaflet
Various ways to distribute
Kinds of seminars; how to organise a seminar that wins you clients
Using PR to get business
How to get/use your own newspaper column
How to get the best from the internet
Finding free web space
Website contents and information
Referrals explained
Methods for gaining referrals
Advertising in the right place
The media
Different types of media
Writing an ad; response rates
How to gain repeat business
Marketing yourself

13. Herb gardening

Growing herbs
Several factors to consider when planning your herb garden
Guidelines for planting your herb garden
Which herbs should you grow?
Table of herbs
Outdoor herb gardening

Choosing the size and area of your herb garden

Improving drainage

Correct Use of fertiliser

Containing your herbs

Diseases or insects that attack herbs

Cutting and dividing herbs

Harvesting herbs outdoors

Growing your herbs indoors

Light requirements for different herbs

Planting herbs

Instructions and tips for planting herbs

Harvesting herbs indoors

Drying herbs

Assignment 13: growing your own herbs

What to do next

7 Post-course activities

Herb Index A-Z

Phew! That's a lot of material! But you'll enjoy it!

We look forward to welcoming you on the course!